Grand jury, county and court officials praised the progress of Fulton county at a luncheon yesterday given the jurors by the county commissioners at Fulton Tower.

Half a dozen court and county officials emphasized the importance and efficiency of their departments to the grand jury, which yesterday held the first special session of its investigation of county affairs as required by law.

Grand Jury, Probing County Acts, Hears Officials Lauded at Dinner

Dr. Charles R. Adams, chairman of the board of commissioners, who appeared before the grand jury yesterday morning as the probe was launched, presided at the luncheon and told the jurors of the great work being done by all departments under the jurisdiction of the commission. He said courtrooms and the grand jury room in the courthouse will probably be air-conditioned by next year in order to further increase efficiency.

Treatment of Prisoners. Commissioner Edwin F. Johnson declared that the county is giving special attention toward the humane treatment of prisoners in the jail and prison camps, and is providing for segregation of first and old offenders. Judge John D. Humphries, senior judge of the Fulton superior court, asserted the efficiency of the court has been increased this term with the installation of new rules of procedure. Judge Jesse M. Wood, of the Fulton criminal court, explained the work of his court and offered co-operation in the investigation by the grand jury.

officer, asked the jurors to pray for him in his work. He outlined the duties of the probation officer in aiding courts and told the grand jurors his office handled $6,000 or more each month, paid in for the support of abandoned children.

Frank R. Fling, clerk of the county commission, promised co-operation with the grand jury in furnishing records for the coming investigation. Elmer L. Stanley, foreman of the grand jury which was charged by Judge E. E. Pomeroy to investigate and report on the condition of every department of the county government, spoke for the grand jury.

The luncheon at the jail was prepared by Bill Turner, chief engineer at the tower.

Commissioners George F. Longino, J. A. Ragsdale and Ed Almond were not present at the function. They are touring several Georgia counties studying eight-hour shifts for county employees with the view of installing the eight-hour shift in the public works department of Fulton if it proves feasible. Dr. Adams and Chief Jailor Robert Holland told the grand jurors that the county jail is in excellent condition, having recently been renovated with county and government money.

In addition to the board chairman, J. W. Simmons, clerk of the Fulton superior court, was called before the grand jury yesterday. Foreman Stanley was talking about when it said that "one county officer should be removed" because he was "guilty of using opprobrious words and of improper conduct."

A statement yesterday from L. H. Edmondson, foreman, and C. J. Alfred, secretary of the grand jury, said: "The presentments did not refer to any member of the DeKalb county police department, or to any deputy or attaché of the sheriff's office, or to any member of the solicitor's office of the superior court or city court of Decatur."

Budget commission members yesterday declined to recommend reinstatement of 5 per cent of the 10 per cent cuts imposed on non-school employees, although $89,279.64 in new revenue was anticipated. The commission filed the anticipations with the finance committee with a statement that needs of various departments for operation throughout the remainder of the year will consume available revenue.

The finance committee will discuss the reinstatement at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Council will also discuss the matter Monday.

Requests for funds totaled $128,000, $26,000 is needed for reinstatement, Councilman Aubrey Millam, commission member, said.

Budget commission members listed $85,045.48 in new revenue from various sources, but $15,765.84 went to schools.

The budget commission has authority to anticipate new funds only. Distribution is made by the mayor and council.

Chief among the increases were: Business licenses, $8,000; recorders' court fines, $17,500; water receipts, $20,000; cyclorama, $4,000, and $14,767 in money turned over to the city by PWA on the new police station erected last year.

Principal requests and the cuttings by the budget commission follow: Motor transport for automobile tires and gasoline, $5,000 ($8,000 asked); auditorium-armory architects, $2,500 ($5,200 due); police pensions, $10,000 ($12,700 due); police pay rolls, $4,000 ($5,300 asked); street lighting, $5,000 ($10,000 due); water department for coal supplies, $500 ($8,000 asked).

GUNTER SENTENCE UPHeld BY COURT

Avondale Man Killed Son-in-Law; Was Meted Life Term.

Life sentence given W. T. Gunter in DeKalb superior court for the murder of G. E. Irwin, his son-in-law, was affirmed yesterday by the Georgia supreme court.

The evidence quoted Gunter as saying that the son-in-law had frequently been drinking and abused his wife and family. Irwin was shot to death at his home on Oak street in Avondale.

The court reversed the death sentence of Caleb Harris, convicted in Wilkinson superior court for the slaying of his wife, on the grounds that the solicitor general had used "improper language" in his argument to the jury.

Death sentence of John Henry Sloan, Moultrie negro, convicted of the murder of Otis Gay, was upheld.

You're Cold, Say Jurors To DeKalb Conjecturers

With no name definitely mentioned, the field narrowed yesterday in DeKalb county's excitement over just whom the grand jury was talking about when it said that "one county officer should be removed" because he was "guilty of using opprobrious words and of improper conduct."

A statement yesterday from L. H. Edmondson, foreman, and C. J. Alfred, secretary of the grand jury, said: "The presentments did not refer to any member of the DeKalb county police department, or to any deputy or attaché of the sheriff's office, or to any member of the solicitor's office of the superior court or city court of Decatur."

MY COOKERY

By MISS RUTH CHAMBERS.

Do you sometimes find yourself in a rut, where meal-planning is concerned, and discover that you are serving the same main dishes again and again? Even favorites can wear out their welcome, if repeated too often.

One meat which is neglected in some households, and yet which can be used in many ways to gain variety in the menu is veal. A veal roast is delicious, especially when it is roasted by the newer method, that is, slowly and in an uncovered pan. No, it does not dry too much, not when the oven temperature is 300 degrees F. A rolled shoulder of veal with stuffed pears is a very "special" dish.

Roasted Shoulder of Veal with Stuffed Pears.

Roast veal in slow oven (300 degrees F.). Do not cover roaster. Bake until meat is tender, allowing 30 minutes to the pound.

To make stuffed pears, work paprika well into cream cheese. Form into balls and place in the center of the pear halves. Place around the roast a few minutes before it is done. When the cheese melts remove and serve around roaster.

Veal and Bacon Salad.

If you have any left-over veal, serve it in this salad.

Three cups cold cooked veal—diced, 12 cup cooked bacon—finely cut, 1 cup celery—cut in 1/2 inch pieces, 1/2 cup mayonnaise, 6 small tomatoes, salt and pepper, radish roses, sweet gherkins.

Mix the diced cold cooked veal and the finely cut bacon. Combine with celery and mayonnaise and chill.

Place a small tomato in a cup of crisp lettuce leaves. Cut the tomato down into several sections so that it will open like a flower. Place a mound of the salad mixture on the tomato, and top with mayonnaise. Garnish with radishes and sweet gherkins.

Stuffed Breast of Veal.

Stuffed breast of veal is a hearty dish, and economical too.

One breast of veal, 1 cup water, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 3 tablespoons flour, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 4 tablespoons butter or bacon drippings.

Have pocket cut in breast of veal. Wipe with a clean damp cloth and stuff with tricky dressing. Tie or skewer into shape. Spread with the fat, then sprinkle with seasoning and flour. Place on a trivet in an uncovered roaster in a slow oven (300 degrees F.). Allow 30 minutes to the pound.

Tricky Stuffing.

Three eggs, 6 carrots, 3 apples, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 cups prepared bran flakes, pepper, 1/2 cup peanuts.

Beat eggs light. Add grated car-

Chow Mein.

Veal goes very well in chow mein. Three tablespoons lard, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup diced raw veal, 1/2 cup fine cut onions, 1 1/2 cups celery—diced, 1/2 cup water, 1 can Chinese vegetables.

Thickening.

Three tablespoons cornstarch, 3 tablespoons soy sauce, 1-8 teaspoon pepper.

Put lard, add salt, meat and onions, stir constantly, and cook rapidly until meat is well seared. Add celery and water. Cover and cook 5 minutes. Add drained Chinese vegetables. Heat thoroughly. Mix thickening ingredients, add to chop suey and cook for a few minutes. Serve over home-made fried noodles.

Jellied Veal.

A dish to please an epicure is jellied veal.

Three pounds knuckle of veal, 1-2 cup chopped celery, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1-4 cup sliced carrots, 1-2 medium sized onion, 1 teaspoon salt.

Put meat, celery, carrots and onion in kettle and let simmer until tender. Let the liquid cook down until it makes about 1 cup; strain and set aside. When the meat is nearly cold, cut into tiny cubes; remove the fat from the broth. Reheat and stir the veal into it, add salt and pepper and other seasoning (if desired) and cooked vegetables. Pack into loaf pan or mold. Place a piece of wax paper over the meat and on this place a weight. Let stand until cold and set. Allow 3 hours to mold.

McMAHON RENAMED BY TEXTILE UNION

President Renominated on Platform Indorsing Lewis' C. I. O. Plan.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Thomas F. McMahon, of Providence, R. I., was today renominated president of the United Textile Workers Union on a platform indorsing the John L. Lewis plan for industrial organization and new industrial changes within the union.

Also nominated for the post was Emil Reye, Philadelphia, president of the hosiery federation, whose supporters met McMahon's support of the C. I. O. with a statement that their group had been an industrial union for 15 years.

Changes within the union advocated by McMahon included enlarging of the executive council to include representatives from the different departments to be chosen from within the federation, and the granting of supreme power to them.

Under the plan, federations with less than 10,000 membership are entitled to one representative in the council; federations with more than 10,000 to two representatives, and the unaffiliated locals, numbering about 20,000 textile workers, six, expanding the council to 21.

Francis J. Gorman, also of Providence, first vice president of the U. T. W., was unopposed for renomination, and William F. Kelly, Philadelphia, was nominated second vice president.

UTILITY COMPANIES CHALLENGE RULING

Constitutionality of TVA Act Must Be Passed, U. S. Judge Holds.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 17.—(AP)—A ruling by United States District Judge John Gore, of Nashville, that constitutionality of the Tennessee Valley Authority act would have to be decided as a means of passing on a question of jurisdiction was challenged in a brief filed in federal court here today by 19 private power companies operating in the Tennessee valley.

Judge Gore asked counsel for the TVA and the utility companies to submit briefs on the constitutionality of the vast government enterprise after hearing arguments in Cookeville last week on TVA's motion to dismiss the suit on jurisdictional grounds. Attorneys for the Authority claimed it should have been sued in the northern district of Alabama, since the act creating the TVA fixed its legal residence at Muscle Shoals, Ala.

"A final determination of the constitutionality of the Tennessee Valley Authority act would be improper upon this motion," the brief said. "It is sufficient that very substantial and important constitutional questions are raised by allegations of the bill."

TARVER AND OWEN TO BE NOMINATED

Conventions To Be Held Today at Rome, Warm Springs.

ROME, Ga., Sept. 17.—(AP)—The seventh district congressional convention will meet here tomorrow. Congressman Malcolm Tarver, unopposed for renomination in last week's state primary, will be renominated formally at the convention.

A chairman will be elected to succeed the late Oscar T. Peoples, of Carversville.

OWEN TO RECEIVE NOMINATION TODAY

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Sept. 17.—

(AP)—Congressman Owen will be formally notified of his nomination as congressman from the fourth district at a convention here tomorrow. Alvin H. Freeman, of Newnan, is chairman of the convention and will preside.

The 15 counties in the district have been invited to send special delegations to the meeting.

Toledo Leftists Deliver Ultimatum To Fascists Trapped in Alcazar

TOLEDO, Spain, Sept. 17.—(AP)—tun—to surrender or be blown to

The 1,700 men, women and children within the besieged Fortress Alcazar tonight were given one last ultimatum—surrender or be blown to pieces. The mayor of Toledo said that government leaders at the last minute had thus postponed their "terrible decision" to set off tons of dynamite in the two 100-foot mines tunneled beneath the crumbling walls of the historic structure.

If surrender is not forthcoming, the mayor said, the fortress would be blown up "soon."

Throughout the day laborers and soldiers tamped down additional charges of explosives. Each charge contained more than a ton of dynamite.

Electric cables were connected with the explosive caches and ran back to the office of the mayor. By pressing a button, the mayor could send the whole fortress sky high, the government engineers said.

Houses within a two-mile radius of the Alcazar were evacuated. The engineers said they did not believe the effect of the detonations would be felt seriously in other sections of the city as they had laid the charges carefully.

Lieutenant Colonel Luis Barcelo, military government commander in Toledo, said he would give the occupants the last chance to give themselves up—the women and children promised protection, but the men assumed of death.

The Alcazar has been besieged since outbreak of the rebellion nine weeks ago when Fascist men and their families fled to take refuge behind its walls.

Repeated efforts by government and neutral agents to persuade them to surrender have been spurned—usually to the accompaniment of machine gun and rifle fire.

WANTED: HALF A STILL.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 17.—(AP) Just to keep the record straight, Sheriff Guy Joyner is looking for half a moonshine still. The sheriff and his deputies seized three and a half stills in raids recently. Now the task is to get this figure in round numbers instead of fractions.

HOME TESTED RECIPES

BY Sally Saver

Hotbreads for breakfast—give your family a treat. They will bask in contentment at the special attention and you will be richly rewarded for the small bit of extra work required by these choice recipes:

Quick Spiced Coffee Cake—Combine 2 cups sifted pastry flour or 1 3/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour with 2 teaspoons baking powder, 3/4 teaspoon salt and 5 tablespoons sugar. Add 5 tablespoons butter and cut in well.

Add 1/2 cup currants. Mix 1 well-beaten egg with 1/4 cup milk and 2 tablespoons pure apple butter. Add to dry mixture and mix thoroughly. Pour into greased 9-inch round cake pan or an oblong pan (8"x10"). Spread spiced topping over top and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 25 to 30 minutes. Serve hot.

Spiced Topping—Combine 1 1/2 tablespoons melted butter, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon apple butter and 1 tablespoon flour and spread over cake before baking.

Peanut Butter Shortbread—Cream together 1/2 cup peanut butter, 1/2 cup shortening, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup granulated sugar, and 1 egg. Sift 1 1/4 cups pastry flour and 1/2 teaspoon baking powder with 1/2 teaspoon soda and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Work flour mixture into peanut butter mixture and form into balls about the size of a large hickory nut. Place on a greased cookie sheet, about 2 inches apart, press the balls down somewhat with a knife, and press a half of nut or small piece of date or fig on top of each. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 15 minutes or until a delicate brown. To make dainty cookies for parties, melt bitter chocolate in a double boiler and dip the tines of a fork into the chocolate and make thin lines over top of the cakes after they are baked, in which case omit nuts or fruits before baking.

Berry Flake Muffins (makes 12 muffins)—Sift together twice 2 cups all-purpose flour (sifted once before measuring), 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt and 2 tablespoons melted butter and 1 cup sifted dried berries and add, all at once, to the dry ingredients. Immediately stir vigorously just enough to dampen flour. The batter will look very lumpy. Fill well-greased muffin pans three-fourths full and sprinkle tops generously with rice flakes (1/2 cup in all). Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) 20 minutes. Serve at once.

Prune Muffins—Sift 2 cups all-purpose flour (sifted once before measuring), 1/2 cup milk and 2 tablespoons sugar. Beat 1 egg, slightly, then add one 5-ounce can strained prunes and 1/2 cup milk and blend thoroughly. Melt 4 tablespoons butter, allow it to cool slightly, then add to the milk mixture. Pour all of the liquid into the dry mixture. Stir just enough to dampen the flour. (The batter should have a rough, pebbled appearance.) Pour immediately into well-greased muffin tins, filling each one about two-thirds full. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 25 minutes, or until a golden brown color. When baked, remove immediately from muffin pans.

Apple Butter Muffins (makes 10 large muffins)—Cream 4 tablespoons butter, add 4 tablespoons sugar and continue creaming. Add 1 egg and beat well. Sift 2 cups all-purpose flour (sifted once before measuring) with 3 teaspoons baking powder and

1/2 teaspoon salt, and add to first mixture alternately with 1 cup milk. Put spoonful of batter in greased muffin pan. On this place a spoonful of apple butter. Cover with spoonful of batter. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 20 to 25 minutes. Following are some breakfast menus and recipes:

SCARCITY OF ORANGES INCREASES PRICE HERE

New Florida Crop, Due Soon,
Expected to Lower Cost, Dealers Say.

Scarcity and demand for citrus fruit has sent the price of oranges in Atlanta up from 25 cents to 31 per crate, local produce dealers announced yesterday.

While it is declared natural for the prices to advance during September, the increase is above the average due to a shortage of the summer crops, it is said.

Present rates on oranges by the crate range from $3 to $5. The September cost of grapefruit is much below normal. Oranges have sold in Atlanta for as much as $10 per crate.

Local dealers said that the California crop is about exhausted and the first of the Florida oranges will not be on the market for some time. Florida oranges are not considered good until around Thanksgiving, they said.

The drought cut the yield of the peach, watermelon, grape and California orange crop this summer and people all over the nation demanded California oranges in large quantities due to scarcity and poor quality of other fruits.

In about three weeks the first of the Florida crop will be on the market. Reports from the Florida citrus area predict one of the largest and best seasons the state has known in the many years. Grapefruit are already very plentiful.

HE MADE A TEN-YEAR TEST WITH ALL-BRAN

Say good-bye to the headaches, the low spirits, the sleeplessness that often follow common constipation. Just read this letter:

"In 1926, I started using ALL-BRAN. And now, after ten years, during which I have put Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to a long, hard test, I am writing you this letter. It is better to eat this food and be in condition, than to resort to laxatives."

—Bernard Altman, 63 Goodale Road, Mattapan, Mass.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will help you too. Its "bulk" absorbs moisture within the body, forms a soft mass, gently cleanses the system. Tests prove it is safe and effective.

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. Try it a week. If not satisfactory, your money will be refunded by the Kellogg Company.

Just eat two tablespoons daily. Either as a cereal, or in recipes. How much better to use this food than to take patent medicines. Buy ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

GEORGIA LEAF SALES MOUNT TO $18,145,557

Average Price Paid Is 2.05 Cents Over Sum Received Last Year.

By The Associated Press.
Georgia's 1936 bright-leaf tobacco crop brought $18,145,557.25—a record-breaking amount—for $6,565,298 pounds at a season average of 20.93 cents a pound, which was 2.05 cents per pound over the 1935 average of 18.88 cents.

The State Department of Agriculture yesterday announced consolidated figures for the season, showing that only 269,171 pounds of the tobacco marketed in Georgia was grown in other states. This amount was worth $474,989.05 to the growers outside of Georgia.

Net Sales Given.
Georgia's net sales for the year amounted to $14,299,126 pounds valued at $17,750,567.00.

The highest average price Georgia tobacco has ever brought, the department said, was in 1917, when it reached 37 cents a pound. However, only 1,900,000 pounds were sold that year.

In 1918 the average price was 46 cents for 2,068,000 pounds.

The Nashville market had the highest average price for the season of 24.44 cents a pound. There was sold $2,328,833 pounds of leaf this year on Nashville's market, which brought growers $1,031,937.25.

Tifton's market had the largest volume of sales with 11,551,778 pounds sold during the season. The average highest price paid for the average was 20.16 cents, giving the farmers $2,329,687.80 there.

Waycross was third in price averages, at 22.76 cents a pound for 4,701,826 pounds for a total of $452,542.50.

Consolidated Report.
Final consolidated report on pounds sold first hand and average price for the season of 1936 and 1935 follows:

Two Youths Convicted in Slaying of Woman
Toccoa, Ga., Sept. 17.—(AP)—After pleading their youthfulness as their only defense, two boys, Sanford Scott and Cecil Smith, each 15 years, today were convicted of slaying Mrs. Joseph Herring, wife of a retired army officer, at her country home near here last July. Life term recommended at Toccoa in Killing of Mrs. Herring.

Found Wounded.
Mrs. Herring died several weeks after being found in the garden of her mountain home with severe head wounds. Officers said were inflicted with garden tools. Major Herring discovered his wife's condition upon returning home from a brief trip.

In their statements to the jury today both defendants gave their ages as 15, but at the time of their arrest Sheriff Fred A. Stowe said Scott was 17 and that Smith was 16.

The defendants introduced no evidence, relying solely on their sentence statements to the jury in which they said they were 15 years old and that they were sorry "this had been done."

Confession Read.
The confession, bearing the signature of Sanford Scott, which was introduced, was as follows:

"We went to Major Herring's home on Saturday morning, July 11, 1935. We, Cecil Smith and I, had talked about going there to get money. I went to the house and Cecil stayed in the old road. I asked for work and was refused."

"I went back and talked to Cecil again. He said, 'I go back and hit her. I went back to the house and borrowed the mackinac. We then went to the spring and talked again. We got a flask and went to the house and told her she could have it for the use of the mackinac. She asked me to help her plant the flower.'

"Struck Her Twice.
"She stooped over to plant the flower and I struck her twice with the mackinac. I started to carry her in the house and started dragging her. Then I took her arm and we dragged her to the back side of the house. We tried to get in the house through the back door and failed. We then went to the door at the well and went in the house. I picked up a shotgun and loaded it and handed it to him."

"Cecil picked up the typewriter. Then I opened the side door and he followed me. We went through the undergrowth to the side door and crossed the creek. He said the typewriter. Monday he went and got the machine and brought it close to my house. I opened it and then took it home. It was the same in our toilet. Sanford Scott."

Allen Barr, Atlantian, Is Named President at Vidalia Session.

VIDALIA, Ga., Sept. 17.—(AP)—The Georgia Junior Chamber of Commerce resolved today at its annual convention to "use its efforts towards aiding passage of proper laws in Georgia co-operating with the national social security act."

The organization directed that copies of its resolution be sent county ordinaries urging them to place the necessary constitutional amendment upon the ballot in the general election.

Allen Barr, Atlanta civic leader, was elected president of the chamber, with Joe E. Robinson Jr., Thomasville, first vice president; Robert Sheppard, Columbus, second vice president; and Cleve Allen, Manchester, third vice president.

Thomaspine was chosen for the 1937 convention.

In a statement relative to its stand on the social security question, frequently mentioned during the state's recent Democratic primary campaign, the State Chamber of Commerce said its purpose and practice had not been political in nature, but added:

"We nevertheless feel and urge at this time to endorse and recommend to the people of Georgia the social security legislation adopted by national administration, believing passage of state laws in co-operation would be beneficial."

The convention also resolved to go on record as being opposed to communism.

Passage of a uniform drivers' license law and establishment of a state highway patrol by the next state legislature will be advocated by the chamber as its major 1936-37 objective.

The work of Dr. Charles H. Herby in the development of paper production from slash pine was commended by the convention.

HARTSFIELD AND KEY HURL, DENY CHARGES

Mayorality Candidates Turn
on Heat as Campaigns
Near Close.

A barrage of charges and counter-charges flamed in Atlanta's political war yesterday as the two candidates for mayor in the September 23 runoff primary increased the heat of their battle with only four campaigning days remaining.

Mayor Key charged that William B. Hartsfield, who led him in votes in the September 2 city primary, failed to pay on $800 doctor's bill, that he offered through friendship with the recorder to bribe Ellis Barrett, a member of council, by offering him $250 for his part in having an ordinance put through council for a client of Mr. Hartsfield.

"Too Slimy to Notice."

Hartsfield termed this a lie, also. "As to the scurrilous and libelous statement that I ever offered to participate in influencing a recorder, this is too slimy to notice," he said.

He charged Barrett, who is mayor pro tem, with having numerous relatives on the city pay roll and said that "as mayor of Atlanta I think I can materially aid in relieving the unemployed of Atlanta by removing Barrett's relatives from the city's pay and giving the jobs to honest taxpayers who need them."

Hartsfield charged that Barrett's sister, Lamer Poole's secretary, that his brother and nephew are detectives, and that his brother-in-law is switchboard operator at the post office station.

Referring to his charges concerning Hartsfield's connection with racketeers, Key said, "Is this the kind of man you want for mayor? People of Atlanta can depend upon it, if I have any charges to make against Mr. Hartsfield I will make them publicly as I am doing in this statement."

Hartsfield expressed his appreciation to the many persons who, he said, have called him and assured him of their confidence. "I have served Atlanta as a member of council, and the county as a member of the legislature," Hartsfield declared. "I know that a lifetime of square dealing and honest living in the city where I was born will be a complete answer to this barrage of mudslinging."

Hartsfield is scheduled to speak at a luncheon given by the American Legion, Post No. 1, at 12:30 o'clock today at the Ansley hotel.

Text of Letter.

September 3, 1936.

"Hon. James L. Key, City Hall."

"My Dear Mayor: I am extremely sorry you were not re-elected yesterday but trust most sincerely you will be successful in the runoff. This fellow Hartsfield is just not the type of man for mayor of the city of Atlanta. A man who will not honor his obligations should not be put up for mayor. He owes me a bill of $800 for treating his wife some four years ago and if you want to use this information you are at liberty to do so. I am with you 100 per cent and trust when the runoff comes it will be, James L. Key, Mayor."

Very sincerely yours,

"DR. MARION T. BENSON SR."

"Any statement that I incurred a doctor bill in favor of Dr. Benson and failed to pay it is a willful and malicious lie and the desperate Key crowd knows it," Hartsfield said. "Dr. Benson is a brother-in-law of Phil C. McDuffie, the Ruckelshaus politician whom I defeated for the legislature several years ago. He has come down to Atlanta to take charge of the barrage of mudslinging for Mayor Key."

Declared Intruder.

"Dr. Hal M. Davidson and his associates have been my family physicians for 15 years and I refer the public to them for confirmation of this fact. I marvel at the lack of political acumen of the Key forces in making this Benson charge, even if it were true. If I can get the votes of everybody in Atlanta who owes a doctor's bill they won't pay, I will be elected mayor by the most overwhelming majority ever received by a candidate since Atlanta was Mariettaville," Hartsfield said.

Mayor Key directly accused his opponent of being associated with mudslinging for Mayor Key.

Varied-Hued Stripings Give Fall Suits Color

Multi-Tone Effects in Unfinished Worsted Spruce Up
Clothing—They Are Result of Evolution of Last Few Years, Beginning With Chalk Stripings.

By ROBERT FAIRCHILD,
Editor Men's Fashions.

SUITS FOR FALL

For many years it was recognized that the trouble with men's attire was lack of color. This was widely conceded—men's clothes were referred to as "drab," "dull and uninteresting," "lifeless," "sombre." The first real incursion of color in men's wear came in the field of furnishings, naturally—it was easier to introduce brightness into shirts and ties and socks than into the suits and overcoats. But now the final invasion has been made, color has been cunningly smuggled into clothing itself, and not even the carping will call it loud or garish.

The technique was a little involved—but then, a drabness of some decades' standing had to be overthrown. It began with the chalk-striped suit, which except to tremendous popularity about four years ago, and was a logical development of the chalk stripes popular in the early 1930s. Instead of two-color stripes on a dark ground, the stripes would be alternately blue and gray, or red and gray, or red and blue. With this innovation of two-color stripes the field was open for this season's high style, which represents at last the full introduction of color into men's clothing—the multi-colored stripes and checks.

Five Colors

On a Sixth.

Instead of confining the stripings to two colors, and spacing them evenly and rather wide, the new season's stripings show as many as five stripes of different colors on a ground of a sixth shade, and these stripes are arranged in clusters, with various types of spacing to give novelty and different tonal effects. Thus, we may find blue, gold and light gray stripes succeeding each other, or clustered together by the varied tones of five stripes on a ground of a sixth shade, or gray ground. Other combinations may be red, yellow, and pale green on brown; red, blue and burnt orange on brown; blue, red and light gray on grayish blue. The whole effect is a blended tone, dominated of course by the background color, but so spruced up by the varied tones as five stripes as to produce an effect totally new, in thorough good taste. And the possibilities of this technique, of course, are endless.

Unfinished worsted is the chief fabric for these new suits.

For town wear, however, the double-breasted jacket seems to grow more popular every day. It is especially attractive in those multicolored stripings I have already discussed. Favorable about equally divided between the long-rolling, Duke of Kent lapel, and the type that buttons on the center or waistline button. Most of this season's d.b. jackets are tailored to fasten either way.

Fancy-Back Jackets

Are Less Favored.

I expect to write more about the new fall suits in a couple of weeks, but perhaps one ought to say a word here about models. The fancy-back effects and pleatings and tucks have been super, but the plain backs, such as the gilet-sleeve model, which has a short pleated running along the sleevehead in back, blue, red and light gray on grayish blue. The whole effect is a blended tone, dominated of course by the background color, but so spruced up by the varied tones as five stripes as to produce an effect totally new, in thorough good taste. And the possibilities of this technique, of course, are endless.

DEMOCRATIC GROUP IS ADVISED OF ERROR

D. R. Bryan, chairman of the Democratic county Democratic executive committee, notified the state Democratic committee yesterday that the successful candidates for the nomination from his county were Joe H. Kirby and J. M. Simmons.

A list released by the committee carried the names of the victorious candidates as being E. M. Mills and Simmons but this is an error, Bryan said. According to official reports Kirby had 878 votes, Simmons 825, and Mills 675.

UNITED ARTISTS LEASE TWO-STORY BUILDING

Announcement was made yesterday of a seven-year lease on a two-story building at 158-60 Walton street, N. W., to the United Artists Corporation, film distributors. The deal was negotiated by Jerry Rinehart, of Haas, Howell & Dodd, realtors.

Aggregate rental for the building, it is understood, will be approximately $10,000, the lease becoming effective at once. The building contains about 8,000 square feet, and will be extensively remodelled.

Patient Calls Doctor, Forestalls Burglary

A telephone call in the early morning hours from a patient to his physician saved the home of Dr. Floyd McBae, of 2053 Habersham road, from being looted by burglars, county police reported yesterday.

Servants in Dr. McBae's home were awakened by the telephone bell shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday morning and routed a burglar, escaped with one suit of clothes and left a large collection of jewelry articles behind. The physician and his family were away from home at the time.

Value of Union Label Outlined By Official

Union labels mean that the workers producing the product have received union wages and have a purchasing power two to three times as great as that of unorganized labor, John M. Baer, former congressman and now public relations counsel of the American Federation of Labor, said in Atlanta last night.

Baer came to Atlanta to address the "Union Label Exhibit" at its closing session in Taft Hall. The exhibit has been open for about two weeks, and Baer declared it comparable with any held in the larger cities of the country.

BODY OF EX-ATLANTA DISCOVERED IN LAKE

The body of Hubert Earl Brook, 47-year-old son of Mrs. Patrick Bray, a former Atlantan, recently was found floating in a lake in Tusconville park, Ocala, Fla.

Baer, a veteran of the World War had been engaged in service overseas. He moved to Ocala several months ago with his mother and stepfather, Mrs. Bray, who lived in Atlanta for many years and was active in a number of patriotic organizations, was convalescing in an Atlanta hospital when she received word of her son's death. She left for Florida at once and attended the funeral last week.

HARTSFIELD AND KEY HURL, DENY CHARGES

Mayorality Candidates Turn
on Heat as Campaigns
Near Close.

A barrage of charges and counter-charges flamed in Atlanta's political arena yesterday as the two candidates for mayor in the September 23 runoff primary increased the heat of their battle with only four campaigning days remaining.

Mayor Key charged that William B. Hartsfield, who led him in votes in the September 2 city primary, failed to pay on $86 doctor's bill, that he offered to bribe Ellis Barrett, a member of council, by offering him $250 for his part in having an ordinance put through council for a client of Mr. Hartsfield.

Hartsfield charged that Barrett's sister is Lamar Powell's secretary, that his brother and nephew are detectives, and that his brother-in-law is switchboard operator at the police station.

Referring to his charges concerning Hartsfield's connection with racketeers, Key said, "Is this the kind of man you want for mayor? People of Atlanta can depend upon me. If I have any charges to make against Mr. Hartsfield I will make them public as I am doing in this statement."

Hartsfield is scheduled to speak at a luncheon given by the American Legion, Post No. 1, at 12:30 o'clock today at the Ansley hotel.

MAJOR ASKS OPPONENT TO ANSWER QUESTIONS
Mayor Key last night rechallengeed William B. Hartsfield, his opponent in the runoff primary, next Wednesday, to state "his position on Sunday amusements, including baseball and motion pictures and also his views on the sale of beer and wine in Atlanta."

The new challenge was hurled at a Key rally at 553 Chestnut street, new third ward, before a large crowd gathered on the porch, lawn and street.

"What has Mr. Hartsfield said about his views on Sunday amusements and the other questions I asked him?" Key asked. "He is silent. I want to challenge him again to make his position known clearly and without equivocation."

"Jobs have been provided for hundreds of Atlantans through the cordial, sympathetic and co-operative relations existing between your city administration and federal authorities. The federal government knows the local administration is honest; that it is operating efficiently and economically and it has co-operated with Atlanta."

Mayor Pro Tem, Ellis B. Barrett spoke in behalf of Key at the Chestnut meeting, and Luke S. Arnold, Key's executive secretary, spoke in behalf of the mayor at a community rally at 1408 Lucile avenue.

Both praised what they termed Key's courageous, honest, economical and efficient administration for the past six years and asked voters to "send a tried man back instead of turning the government over to a position which would be an administrative failure."

Varied-Hued Stripings Give Fall Suits Color

Multi-Tone Effects in Unfinished Worsted Spruce Up
Clothing—They Are Result of Evolution of Last Few Years, Beginning With Chalk Stripes.

By ROBERT FAIRCHILD,
Editor Men's Fashions.

For many years it was recognized that the trouble with men's attire was lack of color. This was widely conceded—men's clothes were referred to as "drab," "dull and uninteresting," "lifeless," "sombre." The first real incursion of color in men's wear came in the field of furnishings, naturally—it was easier to introduce brightness into shirts and ties and socks than into the suits and overcoats. But now the final invasion has been made, color has been cunningly smuggled into clothing itself, and not even the carping cloth into which these ingenious stripings are woven. Unfinished worsted is also used for another type of color—stripes—the multi-colored Glen plaid, the multi-colored Glen of an earlier season have evolved, just as did the chalk stripes, into versions in which as many as five colors may be found. This colorful check is also found in other fabrics especially such sports fabrics as chevrons, tweeds, shetlands. But in its unfinished-worsted version it is perfectly acceptable for town wear.

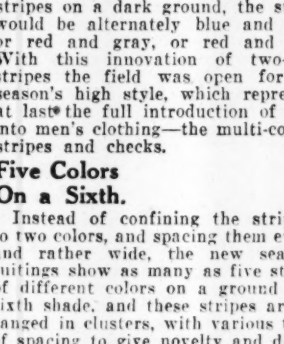

Fancy-Back Jackets Are Less Favored
I expect to write more about the new fall suits in a couple of weeks, but perhaps one ought to say a word here about models. The fancy-back effects are definitely out for town wear, and in the realm of sportswear and country wear they have been considerably simplified. The elaborate yokings and pleatings and tucks have been superseded by the plainer backs, such as the gusset-sleeve model, which has a short pleated running along the sleevehead in back, but is otherwise plain; and the belted pleated type, which has a belt and a pleated running from shoulder to belt on each side. Yokes are pretty nearly all gone, and, of course, these sports suits are preferable in single-breasted jackets.

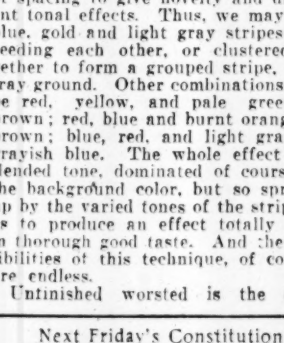

For town wear, however, the double-breasted jacket seems to be the popular every day. It is especially attractive in those multi-colored stripings I have already discussed. Favor is about equally divided between the long-rolling, Duke of Kent lapel, and the waistline button. Most of this season's d. h. jackets are tailored to fasten either way.

Patient Calls Doctor, Forestalls Burglary

A telephone call in the early morning hours from a patient to his physician saved the home of Dr. Floyd McRae, of 3063 Highland road, from being looted by burglars, county police reported yesterday.

Servants in Dr. McRae's home were awakened by the telephone bell shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday morning and routed a burglar, who escaped with one suit of clothing but left a large collection of other articles behind. The physician and his family were away from home at the time.

Value of Union Label Outlined By Official

Union labels mean that the worker producing the product have received union wages and have a purchasing power two to three times as great as that of unorganized labor.

John M. Baer, former congressman and now public relations counsel of the American Federation of Labor, said in Atlanta last night.

Baer came to Atlanta to address the "Union Label Exhibit" at its closing session in Taft Hall. The exhibit has been open for about two weeks and Baer declared it comparable with any held in the larger cities of the country.

He moved to Ocala several months ago with his mother and stepfather, Mrs. Bray, who had been in Atlanta for many years and was active in a number of patriotic organizations, was convalescing in an Atlanta hospital. IL DUCE THREATENS TO BOYCOTT LEAGUE

Italy's Premier Insistent that Ethiopian Delegates Not Attend Meetings.

GENEVA, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Italy's Premier Mussolini, authoritative informant said tonight, will boycott the League of Nations council meeting tomorrow if Ethiopian representatives attend.

And for the same reason Italy probably will stay away from the League's annual assembly convening Monday, because observers here were certain Ethiopia's vanquished Emperor Haile Selassie would be represented.

Dispatches from Rome said Mussolini was awaiting advice from the League credentials committee. He held the Italian delegation to the League at Rome until it was determined definitely whether the Abyssinian delegation would be excluded.

Diplomats had hoped that astute maneuvering might solve this delicate situation without further loss to the League's prestige, but tonight apparently all efforts had failed.

Decision To Be Made.

Both Italy and Ethiopia are members of the League. If the League should exclude Ethiopia from its sessions, the move would be equivalent to recognition of Italian conquest of another League member.

On the other hand, if Ethiopia should be given admission to the League in her contention that she still is a sovereign state, the League would lose Italy, one of its most powerful members.

As diplomats wrestled with some of the most delicate problems ever faced by the League, their worries were increased by anxiety over the Russian delegation.

It was believed by many that Foreign Commissioner Maxim Litvinov might seize upon a League session as an opportunity to assail Germany because of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's anti-Soviet speeches at Nurnberg last week.

War Interest Heightened.

Interest in the Spanish civil war was heightened as the League suddenly placed on the agenda for the council the question of prohibiting war materials to belligerents.

At a preliminary conference of minorities in Europe, Herr Neuwirth, spokesman for the Nazi organization in the conference, issued a warning that minorities in Europe must be given additional rights or a policy of "irredentism" was inevitable.

(Irredentism is the principle of re-incorporation within a country territory of which it has been deprived.)

With these questions pending, diplomats tonight were working to maintain at the same time the peace of Europe, their own countries' prestige, and the League's erstwhile power.

MAN BADLY HURT IN STREET FIGHT

Altercation Following Cab Window-Breaking May Result Fatally.

A charge of "suspicion, may be murder" was placed last night against a man listed as E. T. Anderson, 28, of 1122 South Gordon street, following an altercation in front of 84 Houston street in which Talmadge (Bud) Merritt, 40, of 881 Dillon street, whom Anderson had befriended, was seriously injured.

Merritt was admitted to Grady hospital, suffering loss of blood and a basal skull fracture. His condition was reported as critical.

Detectives Leo Nahlik and M. M. Coppinger reported that Merritt approached Anderson on Hunter street near Capitol square, seeking a meal.

Anderson took him into a nearby restaurant, also inviting a man who identified himself as Cary Ragsdale, 25, of Birmingham, whom Merritt called his "buddy."

After dinner, the men decided to go to a hotel, and Anderson called a taxi cab. As they entered the vehicle, Merritt, the detectives learned, slammed the door so hard a window was broken.

They were discussing cost of the window when Merritt ran, according to police reports, and Anderson overtook him on Houston street, where the fight followed. A charge of suspicion was placed against Ragsdale.

TEACHER FACING TRIAL RESIGNS FROM SYSTEM

Scheduled trial of Edwin Ludwig, teacher at Commercial High, next Tuesday, was forestalled yesterday when Ludwig sent his resignation to school heads.

Ludwig had demanded a trial, and Willis A. Sutton, school superintendent, had charged him with insubordination and lack of co-operation.

In a lengthy statement, Ludwig said the charges were changed to prevent him presenting his defense in a proper light, and he preferred to forego a "formality."

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?

Do you know why external remedies so seldom give quick and permanent relief?

Why cutting does not remove the cause?

Do you know the cause of Piles is internal?

That there is congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the veins flabby, the parts lifeless—known as HEMORRHOID that is guaranteed.

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause. It stimulates the circulation in the lower bowel—drives out the thick impure blood, and restores the affected parts.

HEM-ROID is so successful in even the most stubborn cases that Jacobson Drug Store and all good druggists advise every sufferer to get a bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets today—take them as directed—then if not completely satisfied with results—you money back.—(adv.)

ATLANTA THEATER NEWS

'They Met in a Taxi' Is Billed at Rialto

Lionel Stander, Chester Morris and Fay Wray in "They Met in a Taxi," from a story by Octavus Roy Cohen, opens today at the Rialto theater. It is a special Columbia production and recaptures that delightful vein and tempo that made Columbia's "It Happened One Night," the outstanding success of its season. Alfred E. Green directed "They Met in a Taxi."

Stander and Morris are taxi drivers and pals. Morris has just delivered his new newspaperman, writer of a society column, to a big wedding, when a lovely girl, wearing a bride's costume, dashes from the house, jumps in his cab and tells him to drive away, anywhere. Morris thinks it is the bride running away from an undesired bridegroom and he, romantic soul helps by taking the girl to his own apartment.

Then it turns out the girl is just a model and she is escaping an accusation as a jewel thief. They find the jewels hidden in the wedding gown. The picture is one of the gayest, fastest moving and altogether delightful romantic comedies of the current season and should never be missed by the lovers of real entertainment in their own fare.

In addition to the three stars the cast includes Raymond Walburn, Henry Mollison, Kenneth Harlan and Ann Merritt.

The picture will be the attraction at the Rialto for the full week, starting this morning. Clever short subjects round out a desirable program.

New Charlie Chan Film Is Coming to Capitol

Neck-and-neck with death, half-way round the world, Charlie Chan races a ruthless murderer in his most baffling case, "Charlie Chan at the Race Track," Twentieth Century-Fox picture, which comes to the Capitol theater Sunday for a week's run.

Opening with the thrilling Melbourne sweepstakes in Australia, the scene of the film races across the Pacific, where the murderer first strikes to Honolulu and then Los Angeles, with Chan on the killer's trail.

On the stage the Capitol will present a brand-new stage revue, "Town Scandals," with a cast of 25 stage stars offering eight acts of vaudeville and featuring a big stage band.

The latest feature picture at the Capitol is "The Country Beyond," a story of the northwest mounted police, adapted from the novel of James Oliver Currier.

The current stage show is "Music Hall Varieties," a gala stage revue with a cast of 25 stage stars.

'The Road to Glory' Held Over at Georgia

Fredric March is getting so accustomed to costume roles that he doesn't feel dressed in ordinary apparel anymore.

During production of "The Road to Glory," Twentieth Century-Fox picture being held over at the Georgia theater, in which he is starred with Warner Baxter and Lionel Barrymore, March has worn a variety of costumes.

"When I first went on the stage," he said, "I played only light, romantic roles. I liked that kind of part—maybe because I don't want the bother of the watchful care of appearance which goes with costumes—and I became convinced that it was my forte."

"It was one of these light comedies, 'The Royal Family,' that led directly to my debut on the screen. I was appearing in the leading role of the play in Los Angeles, when a studio scout saw me and signed me to do the same part in the film version."

"However, my career as a light-hearted, romantic leading man was brief. I played in 'Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde,' 'Dunk Takes a Holiday,' 'The Barretts of Wimpole Street' and 'Les Miserables,' among others."

"My part in 'The Road to Glory' I consider the finest role I have ever had on the screen and it is one of the most enjoyable films in which I have ever worked. It affords a scope and breadth for acting, both lightly romantic and vibrantly dramatic, unsurpassed in my screen experience."

June Lang and Gregory Ratoff head the supporting cast of "The Road to Glory," which was written for the screen by Joel Sayre and William Faulkner.

Howard Hawks directed with Nunnally Johnson associate producer.

'General Died at Dawn' Now on Screen at Fox

Acting under the fire of a revolutionary army in a Hollywood studio is one thing and vacationing in Spain during the revolt is something else. Both, however, are just a part of the general scheme of things to Madeleine Carroll, co-starred with Gary Cooper in "The General Died at Dawn," which opens for a week's engagement at the Fox theater, starting today.

Many years ago Miss Carroll promised herself a long vacation in a castle in Spain. So, hardly had the last gun echo died away, in the Chinese revolution scenes in "The General Died at Dawn," when the star began to pack despite the fact that the newspapers were screaming war, bombs, air raids and direct calamity.

The castle in Spain, Miss Carroll related, is the realization of her fondest childhood dreams. Her instant success on the London stage made it possible. She bought a charming picture that looked like the ones in picture books, and then she began to plan a long vacation in it.

Fate decreed otherwise. The long-planned vacation was with the long-planned picture, "The General Died at Dawn," which opened yesterday for a week's run at the Grand theater, surpasses all former attempts of filmland.

It takes one only five minutes to understand why the picture is so popular, before such high-priced houses and why such high prices were necessary.

The picture was "The General Died at Dawn," and it took many weeks to produce. During the production the Spanish rebellion broke out. But Miss Carroll's mind was made up. She had counted on that vacation and now she was going to have it.

Besides the feature, "The General Died at Dawn," Fox news and short subjects make up a most enjoyable program.

Three musical numbers for the show, "Cabin on the Hilltop," "My Heart Wants To Dance" and "Let's Make a Wish," were written by Kalmar and Ruby and Sid Silvers. The film, however, is strictly a romantic comedy with radio episodes offering an opportunity for song presentations.

Fortunes could be tucked away from the money required to produce this show.

"The Great Ziegfeld" traces the life of Florenz Ziegfeld Jr., giving his ups and downs, showing his friends and enemies, picturing his loves.

William Powell, in the title role, is at his best. His characterization of the greatest producer along the White Way is so good that one does not realize that the man playing the role is Ziegfeld.

Best in the strong cast of supporting actors and actresses was Luise Rainer, as Anna Held, the girl who made the mill-bath famous. Her temperamental acting was superb, and the scene in which she calls Ziegfeld—her Flo whom she had divorced, to wish him happiness and success in his marriage to Billie Burke, ably played by Myrna Loy, was one of the film's best.

This show was not made by any actors or actresses, however. It was made by the magnificent scenes, the beautiful scenery, the gorgeous girls, and the glamorous costumes. The show is truly a great tribute to the man who glorified the American girl and the scenes are realistic enough of what Ziegfeld produced to be his own.

As usual, Frank Morgan turned in an excellent performance, this time as Jack Billings, the man from whom Ziegfeld borrowed his money. Ziegfeld field-made stars in person—Fannie Brice, Virginia Bruce, Virginia Bruce, Ray Walker—add much to the realism of the show.

Clark-Seydel Wedding Gifts Featured by Handsome Silver

By Sally Forth.

OF THE impressive collection of beautiful gifts received by Helen Clark and Paul Seydel, whose marriage will be an important social event of this evening, are many handsome pieces of silver. One is a large bowl presented the young couple by officers of the fourth corps area. Colonel John Clark, father of the bride-elect, is head of the corps area medical staff and it was from his co-officers on the staff that the young couple received a handsome silver pitcher and 12 matching goblets.

Paul is of Belgian descent, and he and his bride-elect experienced a great thrill as they opened the presents sent them by Mrs. S. M. Page Rees. It is a handsome embossed silver spoon which was brought to this country many years ago from Belgium as a gift to the donor's mother. So it was with a sentimental gesture that Mrs. Rees chose this family heirloom as her gift to the young couple.

Atlanta socialites gathered at the Piedmont Driving Club last evening for the brilliant buffet supper given by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Seydel, which climaxed the series of lovely pre-nuptial parties which have honored their son and daughter-to-be, and which followed the wedding rehearsal at the Pro Cathedral. The exquisite floral decorations combined in effective manner with the background afforded by the club. The large mantel at the far end of the room was offset by baskets filled with yellow and bronze dahlias and yellow gladioli. Similar flowers beautified the foyer and veiled the orchestra loft. The punch bowls were embedded in yellow flowers, and the white columns running the length of the ballroom were entwined with smilax.

The receiving line stood before the mantel and included the hosts, the honor guests and Colonel and Mrs. John Clark, parents of today's bride. Both mothers looked unusually charming in models reflecting golden shades which were especially becoming to their coloring. Pretty blond Helen looked unusually lovely in her model of turquoise taffeta.

Glimpsed among the guests were Mrs. Vassar Woolley, maternal grandmother of the groom, who was lovely in gray and silver. Mildred Mell, of Rome, an interesting guest, as was Mrs. Morton Hodgson, of Athens. This matron and last night's hostess have been friends since girlhood, and the former is a bridesmaid in the wedding when Mildred Woolley became Mrs. Paul Seydel. Later, when the former Lydia Hutchings became Mrs. Morton Hodgson, it was her friend, Mrs. Seydel, who was her matron of honor.

Last evening's party was brilliant from every angle, and it was a tired but happy assemblage which bid good-night to the gracious hosts, who are noted for their hospitality.

POPULAR and cute little titian-haired Dorothy Shivers has had many compliments paid her, but none has been finer than was conferred upon her yesterday in her selection as president of the Debutante Club of 1936-37. Dorothy did not attend the meeting because she is visiting Margaret Yates in Birmingham, Ala., and that made the compliment all the more significant.

Margaret and Dorothy were classmates at the Finch school in New York city, and the debutante president journeyed to Birmingham to help perfect wedding plans for her chum. Margaret's marriage to Michael Smith is scheduled for November, and she will be among the brilliant events of the Alabama city's social calendar. Of course, Dorothy will be included in the bridal personnel.

The new debbies were attractively attired yesterday in their fall outfits. Robyn Peeples wore two exquisite orchids on her smart black and white dress. She looked very regal and "debutantish," and was the only one wearing the exotic blossoms.

Clare Haverty, the newly elected secretary, looked too cunning for words in her princess-lined black dress with swing skirt and broad shoulder effect. Martha de Gollan's demure "Anthony Adverse" bonnet was most fascinating. Wine velvet was worn by cute Lucile Willis and the big wine velvet bow on her felt hat lent her a provocatively gay note.

Helen Aycock, lovely in a black model trimmed in silver kid, is still undecided about her plans for the year, but she and attractive Marion Mobley attended the meeting, for they may not be able to resist the lure of "debuting" after all.

Pretty Laura Maddox wore a stunning black dress model, featuring a swing skirt, and she was neatly shod in square-toed and square-heeled black suede pumps. A seven-strand string of pearls encircled the neck of Martha Burnett's smart black dress, giving an "Astorbilt" air to the costume.

Elizabeth Holcomb had on a dashing sport dress of beige wool, to which burgundy buttons and accessories lent a contrasting note. Elizabeth and Sara Smith are going to combine debuting with college, and will return to Atlanta festivities during the Christmas holidays.

Sara's blond loveliness was offset by a black costume which had the prettiest short sleeves

Miss Laura Maddox Makes Debut At Driving Club Ball December 22

Miss Laura Maddox, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Foster Maddox, will be formally presented to Atlanta society by her parents on Tuesday evening, December 22. The brilliant affair will take the form of a debut ball to be held at the Piedmont Driving Club, and it will be among the outstanding events of the gay holiday season, assembling a throng of fashionable society. Miss Maddox inherits the blond beauty and engaging charm of her lovely mother, whose name she bears. Mrs. Maddox is the former Miss Laura Baxter, of Nashville, representative of one of Tennessee's oldest and most distinguished families. Equally prominent and influential is her father's family, the Maddox name having been pre-eminent in the social, cultural and civic annals of Atlanta for generations.

Following her preparation at Washington Seminary, Miss Maddox entered Ogontz school near Philadelphia. She completed her education at the Finch school in New York city, having graduated there last June. Her formal presentation heralds much social attention and undisputed belle-ship, for Miss Maddox occupies an enviable position in southern society.

She has enjoyed world-wide travel and has recently returned from a North Cape cruise, accompanied by her parents and her close friend, Miss Clara Haverty. The Maddox home, Woodhaven, on Pace's Ferry road, is one of the handsomest in the city and has long been the center and the favorite gathering place of fashionable society.

Miss Maddox is a handminton devotee and plays an excellent contract bridge game. She lately has taken up horseback riding and is exceedingly enthusiastic over the invigorating sport. When she makes her debut in December at the Driving Club, her attractive cousins, Miss Eunice Holderness, of St. Louis, Mo., and Miss Emily Alsop, of Noroton, Conn., will visit Miss Maddox and attend the auspicious and socially important event.

Mrs. Palmer Gives Luncheon Tomorrow.

Things That Make Women More Beautiful

Powder Palette Especially For the Sun-Tanned Lady

By MIGNON.

(The Mignon who writes this column does not sell, endorse or manufacture any cosmetics.)

Now that women have become as much outdoor people as men, it has been necessary for the manufacturers who are on their toes to make face powder to meet their requirements. A woman with a skin tanned by the sun would look like a circus clown in too white a face powder.

One well-known manufacturer of lovely beauty articles has come to the fore with a "powder palette" containing four boxes of powder shading from that suitable for the freshly tanned, just-home-from-the-beach complexion to a lovely rachel which will blend with the average skin tone after it has become natural in texture and color.

This enables members of the fair sex who have enjoyed too generously old Sol's rays, by using first the deep sun-tan and gradually working to the lighter or natural shade as the ravages of the summer sun become more and more dissipated with the coming of fall, to go through the trying period literally with flying colors.

Each of the four shades contains sufficient rosy tint to prevent the paleness caused by use of a sun-tan powder. And the best part of all is that the four may be bought for the price of one ordinary box. Those of you who have bought a dark powder only to find after two weeks' time that the complexion has become less tanned and requires a different shade, will appreciate this economical feature of the powder palette. Then, too, you will be able to determine just what shade best suits your particular complexion.

If your beaming countenance does not show up to proper advantage with the new fall outfit, you will only have yourself to blame. I've told you how!

If you want to know where you can purchase any article mentioned in this column phone Mignon at The Constitution. Please do not write unless you live outside the city, in which case enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Charming Mother and Daughter

Young husbands, lend me your ears! Here are some hints which if heeded will guarantee you happy days, sleep-sweet nights, peace and contentment with plenty of excitement thrown in to keep peace from pallid. A woman's love thrives on tiny things that cost you little to give and net you much. Don't be stingy with your gifts.

Young or old, rich or poor, high or low, no wife can quite believe in her husband's affection if he doesn't habitually put it into words. She likes to have his love expressed with fidelity and support, with tenderness and consideration but most of all she likes to have it said with the lips: "I love you." The three little words that have inspired the human heart since time began are yet the sweetest music to a woman's ears when spoken by the man she loves. She never gets too old to thrill to them. She never gets lift her up.

As avid as she is to hear them, as eager as she is to believe them, she must have some proof to back them up. Such little things as kisses, compliments and confidences make up the burden of the proof and the greatest of these is confidence. Let her get the idea that he is holding out on her and she is frightened. Let him deceive her and she's suspicious. Let him lie to her and she's sunk. She was born knowing that a man's confidence, full and free, is the final proof of his wholehearted affection. So it is that however naughty he may have been, she will excuse him if he is frank with her. Whatever his sins of omission or commission she will wipe the slate clean if he confesses to her.

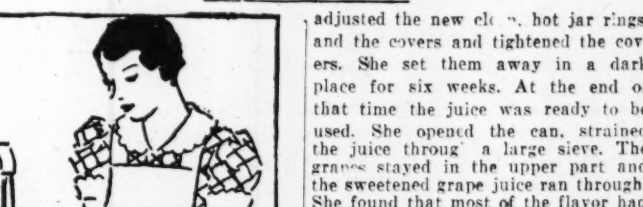

A woman ain't no fool either; for the close and comfortable companionship with her mate is finished when and if he is ducking and dodging to keep her from knowing what he's been up to. Concealments, deceptions, little lies and big ones will give any husband the fidgets and when he has the fidgets there's no more fun at home for either party.

With the little matter of confidence, settled according to Hoyle, kisses and compliments follow as the night the day.

Heed these hints, young husband and discover for yourselves that a woman assured of her husband's love gives her best without counting the cost.

My Day

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

THE WHITE HOUSE, WASHINGTON, Wednesday.—We all worked last evening. My husband has to catch up on his old work before preparing for the new. When I went in to see him early this morning, he told me that before long he would have some news from Michigan.

The calm with which he takes these things makes the rest of us feel nothing really very personal is occurring. I am sure that it is the better way, for if you keep an objective point of view about many things in politics, it makes your judgment that much better.

I started a delightful book last night, Isabel Ross' "Ladies of the Press." I think that she has written something that will be interesting historically and which also reads like a fascinating story. Of course, I suppose because she likes so many people whom I like also, I am heart and soul in agreement with everything she says. We are fully that way with the person who can be objective, who is not influenced by his friends, who thinks and does not allow his feelings to run away with him. But isn't it pleasant when someone who has the reputation of having calm, cool judgment, an objective point of view, all of the qualities that men think desirable in women who earn a living, is found agreeing with you? You can read along without stopping to argue violently with the printed page.

Long before I ever met Isabel Ross her fame as a reporter had been told to me by many of her friends. She is right in saying that only a very few women become front-page reporters, and that it is a coveted spot.

I do not resent the fact that, as the wife of the President, it is rarely, or never, that I can give front-page news. That is as it should be. I do, however, resent the fact that so few women writers, many of whom are just as capable of handling big stories as the men, get a chance to be front-page writers.

I know that there are lots of women who are poor reporters. I know they want their typewriter ribbons changed for them so that if it gets wet or dark some of them do not have the courage to go through with an assignment. But some men don't either! The women haven't had as many years' training in physical self-discipline as the men.

Real books like this one are of great interest and great help. May it be a record sale!

Mrs. Baxter, Secretary Derrin's daughter, came to lunch with me and is looking very lovely. She is trying to make plans for her new future and, like her mother, is a courageous person.

There will be other people in to see us in the afternoon. In the meantime this is a blessed interlude, for we do not have to run about, or attend meetings, or receive large groups of people.

PARKER'S BUDGET CUT, EMPLOYEES DISCHARGED

A reduced budget for the last quarter of the year was blamed by Comptroller General Homer C. Parker yesterday for a new reduction in the civil service.

Such a quantity of grapes as Nancy and Peter had brought in from the country. They were the dark blue Concord. The Californians refer to grapes of this type as slip skins. In contrast to their own varieties the skins of these grapes, as well as those of the Delaware, and Niagara, slip off easily and separate themselves from the pulp of the fruit. Nancy planned to make a grape pie, some grape jelly, and some grape juice. She had learned that it was not wise to make up the grape jelly in the fall and to have it stand on the shelves during the winter and spring. Almost invariably as the jelly stood the tartaric in the grapes precipitated and formed a sharp needle-like piece. She canned the freshly extracted juice and then opened the cans, one at a time, as she needed them, and made up small batches of the grape jelly. The crystals had no opportunity to form when she opened it this way. Her grape juice was made in the easiest way. She chose nice bunches of grapes, washed them, picked the grapes from the stem, and put them, one to two cups into a clean glass quart jar. Over the grapes she put anywhere from one-half to one cup of sugar. Then she filled the jars to overflowing with boiling hot water, she adjusted the new clock, hot jar rings, and the covers and tightened the covers. She set them away in a dark place for six weeks. At the end of that time the juice was ready to be used. She opened the can, strained the juice through a large sieve. The grapes stayed in the upper part and the sweetened grape juice ran through. She found that most of the flavor had been extracted from the grapes but she could use them if she cared to do so in a salad, but they did not add much, really. In making grape pie use seedless pulp whereas in grape kitchen the washed and unskinned grapes were arranged on top of the dough, sweetened and baked. In using the grapes for pie she skinned them, cooked the skins in a small amount of water for ten minutes, and then added them to the pulp which had been heated just enough to allow the seeds to be taken out easily. The skins and pulp were sweetened to taste and put into an unbaked pie shell and baked as usual for any pie.

Purples Use This Play Against Typists Tonight

Boys' High Purples open defense of their southern and Georgia prep football titles tonight at Ponce de Leon against a dangerous Commercial team. The Purple backfield, as was the case last year, will again depend upon deception, laterals, and razzle-dazzles. Their starting backfield tonight was caught in a typical formation yesterday by George Corbett, Constitution cameraman. Roy Goree, at the left, is lateraling to Icky Orenstein. Between them is Ray Miller and at the right is George Sabo, both ready to supply the interference. An offensive battle is foreseen.

Jones Shoots 70; Thrills Britisher

GREAT NECK, N. Y., Sept. 17.—(AP)—Bobby Jones, Horton Smith, and Hector Thomson, the British amateur champion, forsook the National Amateur golf championship long enough today to play a round on the Deepdale course, and all three broke par. Smith shot a 69, three under par; Jones a 70, and Thomson a 71.

"Playing with Mr. Jones was the greatest thrill I've ever had since coming to this country," Thomson said.

By Henry Super.

GARDEN CITY, N. Y., Sept. 17.—(UP)—A pair of veterans, a young Scottish grog peddler and a 24-year-old University of Cincinnati law student today advanced to the semi-finals of the 40th National Amateur golf tournament.

The group included only one of the two original red-hot favorites. He was Johnny Goodman, of Omaha, the 1933 National open champion, who won both his fifth and sixth-round matches at the Garden City Golf Club.

Albert E. (Scotty) Campbell bowed out in the sixth round. Scotty advanced this morning with a 3-and-2 victory over William E. Holt Jr., of Syracuse. But his game went to pieces this afternoon when he lost to George Voigt, of New York, 4 and 3.

FISCHER VS. MCLEAN.

The others who will play in tomorrow's 36-hole semi-finals are John Fischer, of Cincinnati, who has progressed no further than the quarter-finals in six years of trying, and Jack McLean, 25-year-old whisky salesman of Glasgow, Scotland.

Goodman plays Fischer tomorrow and McLean meets Voigt. Goodman and Jack are slight favorites to give the tournament its first international final since the Omaha star lost in 1932 at Baltimore to C. Ross (Sandy) Semerville, of Canada.

This morning McLean defeated Melville Heath, former Harvard links captain, 6 and 4.

Voigt, American Walker cupper in 1930, 1932 and 1936, progressed by a pair of Land's victories. He first whipped 21-year-old Robert Fraser, of Omaha, and then scored over Campbell, who defeated himself on the back nine by slicing and hooking into the treacherous traps.

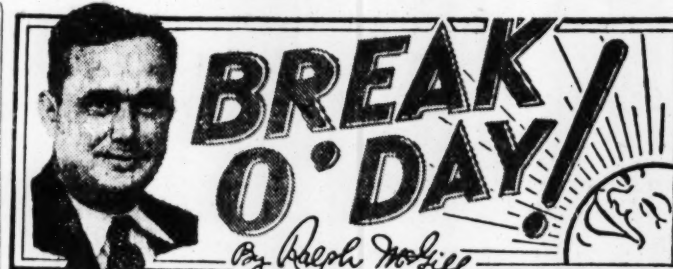

LANGLEY VICTIM.

Goodman, in his first match of the day, accounted for the only other foreigner still in the tournament—18-year-old John Langley, of London. Johnny, rolling up a four-hole lead at the turn, defeated the young Englishman, 5 and 3. Then he crushed Ray Billows, 22-year-old Poughkeepsie, N. Y., lithograph salesman, 2 and 1.

Fischer continued his sensational golf in crushing Gus Moreland, of Chicago, 11, in the morning.

The lanky Ohio State warrior with the crew haircut, ran into a barrage of four birdies by Moreland on the outward nine. He trailed 1 up on the turn. But then Gus began hitting them wild and Fischer won 1 up on the 18th when Moreland barely cleared Lake Cornelia with his tee shot.

In the afternoon Fischer walloped Russell Martin, a 33-year-old Chicago week-end golfer, 6 and 4. Fischer was one over par against Moreland and even par against Martin, bringing his total medal score for 31 holes against six men to three over.

I approach discussion of the "automatic baseball umpire" with much the same feeling as the gentleman who arose in the senate to speak on the subject of changing the name of Arkansas. He was again it.

The very idea of baseball without the umpire brings a chill to the imagination. It isn't until we consider what the umpire means to the game that his real worth is apparent.

Yet the march of civilization which has doomed the horse to life on the bridge paths; reduced the noon-day dinner to a sandwich and salad; cut in half the size of the beer glasses; reduced the apparel of m'lady from hoops, whalebones and four petticoats to approximately one pound of silk, has come forward with the "automatic umpire."

They would remove the homely and weatherbeaten features of Buck Campbell, Steamboat Johnson and Bulldog Williams and substitute an electric ray.

An east Tennessean, one Guy Lunsford, has sent to the patent office this electric umpire. It is infallible. Therefore we will have none of it.

It is arranged so that a ball must pass over home plate between the shoulders and the knees or break a ray of light, thus indicating the pitch to be a ball. I am sure it will work.

The entrance to the bar at one of the New Orleans hotels is arranged with a similar device. As one approaches the door, it opens simply because the passage of the old body has broken a ray of light, thus making a contact which opens the door. It is the same on the way out.

It is most amusing to stand there and watch gentlemen who have had a few stirrup cups at other spots, walk up to the door, extend a hand to push it open, only to see it open as if by magic. Invariably they miss a step.

It affects gentlemen who are in possession of all their faculties in much the same fashion. And the worst stagger I ever saw before the magic door was done by a gentleman who had had nothing stronger than a soft drink and was going back for more. He almost fell on his face. And was muchly embarrassed when an elderly lady said, "Tsk! Tsk! Tsk! What a shame to see a man so."

The electric umpire will work. Of that I am sure. But without the boys in blue, no matter how incompetent they may be, baseball would not be baseball.

So let's hear no more of this automatic umpire. Half the pleasure at baseball games is denouncing the umpire for a thief, a burglar and a robber.

A fan who can make an umpire's ears and neck grow red, goes home with a warm glow suffusing his entire body. He has made a success of life.

Yelling at an electric ray would be love's labor lost. Let's have no more such nonsense about an automatic umpire.

THE STAUNCH PROFESSION.

Baseball's umpires have a better reputation than the players of the game. The umpires are, like the players, recruited from the sandlots and the minor leagues. Their background, advantages and opportunities have been no more than those of the players.

And yet, in all the history of the game, there is no instance of an umpire taking a bribe or engaging in throwing baseball games. The umpire is, next to the pitcher, the logical man to be approached by racketeers. The Black Sox scandal was not the only instance where in baseball players were found guilty of besmirching themselves and their game.

But no umpire ever has been involved. They have gone their way with less pay and no glory and no applause. And

Time of game, 8 o'clock.

Unbeaten for two seasons, Boys' High's Purples open their 1936 grid campaign against a strong and speedy Commercial High eleven tonight at Ponce de Leon. The kickoff is at 8.

Marlin Lloyd, star Commercial back, will not be in the lineup. He was declared ineligible yesterday by Principal E. L. Floyd. It seems that Lloyd's scholastic standing was not satisfactory.

Nevertheless, the Purples, southern champions last year, will have their hands full tonight against the Red Raiders.

And the Raiders won't have any easy time trying to stop Boys' High speedy backs. It will be, as said before, a battle of two fast and deceptive backfields.

Coach Doyal, of Boys' High, is starting a backfield that observers say is even better than the Purples' quartet of 1935. Bob McDuffie, at quarterback, will do the team's punting and a little passing. At halves will be Icky Orenstein and George Sabo. Orenstein is about the fastest in the city.

Roy Goree, veteran from last year's eleven, will be at fullback. Goree is a great plunger and con in handy when about two yards are needed. He also does the passing.

WEAKER LINE. The line starting tonight for Boys' High lacks the speed and experience of last year's forward wall. Captain Louie Perkerson, at tackle, is the only lineman who started the first game last season.

In their opening game last season the Purples defeated Commercial, 22-0. But until the last few minutes they were leading by only eight points. Then Boys' High connected on two long passes.

This year the going won't be as easy as that. For the Commercial eleven is strong. They have speed and experience.

The Typists are starting a veteran team. In fact, every man in the lineup except one—Chase—was a letterman last season.

FLEET BACKS. They have a fleet backfield in Zimmerman, Spratlin, Mayfield and Bradford. Of course, Marlin Lloyd will be missed. But the starting backfield is quite good. Spratlin is the Typists' passer. Mayfield does most of the punting.

The line is full of experienced men. And it should give the Purples trouble. Especially since it is going up a more or less green Boys' High line.

The poor seating arrangement, which allowed so few of the fans at the Tech High-Erie game to see the contest, has been altered. And now, according to Coach Doyal, there will be about 5,000 good seats at Ponce de Leon for pren grid fans.

BIG CROWD. It is a sure thing that this game will draw well. What with two local teams meeting in their opening game, followers of both eleven will turn out in droves. And impartial grid follow-

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—(AP)—There isn't a better September ball club in either major than the Dodgers. They say the way Dick Cofman, Giant pitcher, is adhering to training rules this season has his old pals worried. . . . There is a report along Broadway that Earl Meadows, Olympic pole vault champion, has signed with the Paul Whiteman band. But whether as crooner or a tooter, no one seems to know. . . . There is more than $100,000 in the strong-box for the Joe Louis-Al Ettore fight next Tuesday night in Philly.

Bobby Durham Faces Bill Thomas at New Orleans

MACKS, DODGERS RECALL MAILHO, HURLER LEONARD

Crackers Ready to Bounce Back Against Pels After 20-8 Defeat.

By Jack Troy.

EN ROUTE NEW ORLEANS WITH CRACKER TEAM, Sept. 17, Stout-hearted Bobby Durham is Manager Eddie Moore's choice to pitch for the Atlanta Crackers in the third game of the Shaugnessy play-off Friday night against New Orleans in Heinemann park.

Durham has enjoyed unusual success against the Pelicans since joining the Crackers. He pitched the deciding game of last year's play-off in New Orleans. At that time, the pennant winner was decided by the play-off and Durham's great pitching gave Atlanta its first flag in 10 years.

Bobby won 17 and lost 15 during the regular season. And he saved many a game in a relief role, for which he received no credit—except from his teammates, Manager Moore and the fans.

It was Moore who insisted Durham could win in a relief role, for which he received no credit—except from his teammates, Manager Moore and the fans.

TO SHOOT WORKS.

And Friday night he says he will give everything he's got and call on any reserve to put the Crackers one-up again in this play-off. Bill Thomas is scheduled to pitch for the Pels.

Al Williams originally was Moore's choice to pitch the first game in New Orleans. But events of Wednesday night changed all plans. The 20-8 rout by the Pelicans was sufficient to change a lot of things.

And not the least of all was the fact that the victory definitely put New Orleans back in the running with the next three games scheduled in their own park.

Moore, starting Durham, will be in a position to relieve with Williams, Bud Thomas or even Emil Leonard. He likely will use Bud Thomas in the third game.

The Cracker skipper hopes to win the first two games in New Orleans and end the opening play-off. He passed off the Wednesday rout as one of those things and declared he didn't see how the Pels, with only one dependable pitcher, could eliminate the Crackers.

RICHARDS LEFT.

Catcher Paul Richards is not on the trip. Paul has an injured finger and will not be ready before Tuesday, if the Crackers survive the first play-off.

Two of the boys are making one of their last trips with the Crackers. Emil Mailho, the French-Canadian outfielder, and Emil Leonard, the Belgium knuckle ball pitching star, both of whom have won the high esteem of Atlanta fans, have been recalled by their respective major league clubs. Both were with Atlanta on option, of course.

Connie Mack, venerable Athletic manager, has recalled Mailho, while the Brooklyn Dodgers have recalled Leonard. Dutch Leonard was a sub-alter to the Atlanta club during the season. As was Mailho.

The fans will miss them both next year.

The Crackers players are not in the least disheartened by the fact that they lost their first play-off game in the two years of the Shaugnessy system. They recognize that they've had several games this season in which they were beaten almost as badly.

They are ready to bounce back and pluck the Pelicans of all their feathers. A team that has been out of first place for only one day in two years of pennant-winning baseball is entitled to drop one decisively now and then.

ONLY NATURAL.

The fact that Atlanta fans did not turn out for the first two play-off games is but natural. The Atlanta fans, tops in minor league baseball, figure that any team leading the race from start to finish and winning by a great margin is entitled to all the spoils accompanying a championship.

Which is perfectly right and proper. And yet the Shaugnessy system, as Larry Gilbert pointed out in Atlanta, has its advantages. It keeps up interest in the closing days of a pennant campaign when a team, like the Crackers, for instance, is away out in front.

The other teams are fighting for first division berths and a spot in the play-off. They strengthen their teams, rather than load them up with young talent in a campaign of rebuilding for a new season. Grade A baseball is thus secured right down to the wire.

The old Shaugnessy also helps the clubs that haven't drawn so well to pay salaries. Which is an item to consider. It may be a terrible plan, but it has its advantages.

Female Grapplers On Riverside Card

Miss Mary Nelson, Birmingham woman wrestler, will meet Miss Frances Gomez, Atlanta blond grappler, in one of the main matches at the Riverside arena Friday night.

Miss Gomez defeated her opponent easily last week while Miss Nelson looked on from the ringside. The latter wrestler states that she can defeat her opponent as she has beaten better opposition.

Tarzan Jordan, former light-heavyweight champion of the south, will battle Ted Taylor, Mississippi leg roller, in the main men's match. To state their match will be a battle is putting it mildly, for a real fight is to be seen.

Tiger Long the Miami star, will meet Chippewa Charlie, Oklahoma Indian, in the opening one-hour match.

Vois Beat Barons Before 11,000, 3-1

Birmingham Batsmen Fail in Clutches as Nashville Assumes 2-1 Lead in Series.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 17.—(AP)—Nashville took a two-to-one lead over the Birmingham Barons here tonight by winning the third game of their play-off under the Shaugnessy system, 3 to 1.

Neither Eiland nor Darrow, the starting pitchers, finished, but the contest was marked by a lack of hitting in the pinches.

Clyde Shoun, who hurled a shut-out for the Barons in the first game of the series, will face Byron Speece, who pitched a shutout for the Vois, in the fourth game Saturday night.

More than 11,000 fans saw the wild contest which lasted two hours and 30 minutes.

Birmingham failed to score on three hits in the second, but their principal opportunity came in the seventh. Sueme, batting for Darrow, singled, and Sanford slammed another hit to center field.

DEFENSIVE PLAY TIRES BULLDOGS, MEHRE NOTICES

Tough Scrimmage Shows Boys Green and Guard Position Weak.

ATHENS, Ga., Sept. 17.—Before a horde of red-capped freshmen and other early arrivals, the Georgia Bulldogs staged a tough drill this afternoon which was climaxed by a 30-minute scrimmage.

Two significant features were apparent in the starting offensive line-up. (1) More than half the players have no varsity experience. (2) The guard situation is becoming more acute.

Although the two white-shirted teams showed more ground-gaining ability, Coach Harry Mahre was "impressed." The defensive line-up was not as strong as previously, he said. It showed signs of tiring.

Andy Roddenberry, Harry Stevens and Maurice Green were among the players who were not on the team.

Petrels Engage Frosh Today; Tackle Leaves

Coach John Patrick, of Oglethorpe, is planning a game today with the freshmen to test the stamina of some of his players who will probably have to play 60 minutes in each game this season. This will be necessary because of injuries and of men leaving school.

Harry DeHart, outstanding sophomore tackle, left Oglethorpe yesterday to take a job with a firm back in his home town. After an intensive training period of three weeks, he decided that a good job looked more promising than playing football. DeHart hails from East Orange, N. J.

Walters, Pizago and Sullivan are back in the fold now and prospects look a little better. Pizago may get the center assignment, if he can round into shape within a week. Sullivan has injected new life into the squad with his return to the workouts.

The squad now totals 25 men. Fifteen are untied men from the freshmen squad and only 10 that have seen service on the varsity are on the squad. Several of the injured players should be able to play in the first game next Wednesday night against Newberry College.

The last two days has shown a great improvement over last week's play. Reynolds, the sparkling of the

Earl Mann Confined To Home for Week

A friendly poke in the ribs has resulted in Earl Mann, Cracker president, being ordered to remain at home for a week.

Tuesday night prior to the Cracker-Pelican game, an Atlanta fan approached Earl with a "Well, how are we going to make out tonight?"—and accompanied him with a poke in the side. That poke, delivered with the best of intentions, practically caused one of Earl's lungs to collapse.

The Atlanta club executive didn't feel so good Wednesday but went to the ball park anyway. Yesterday he submitted to an X-ray and the injured lung was discovered. "Nothing serious," diagnosed physicians.

Bitsy Must Be Foolin' Again About Quitting

Grant or Riggs, Who Clash Here Sunday, Expected To Make 1937 Davis Team.

By Betty Mathis.

Bitsy Grant, in spite of his annual statement that he will give up his Davis cup hopes and devote himself to business, seems to still be very much in the national tennis picture. It is understood that the cup team for 1937 will include either Grant or 18-year-old Robert Riggs, the nation's new clay courts champion.

Grant says he will play big-time tournament tennis next year, but will not have time for Davis cup competition. The time element is hardly a logical argument as the "big-time competition" in which he will continue to participate, will take up almost five months of the year anyway.

The main ambition of tournament players is to make a record worthy of selection on the Cup team. Grant has often declared that his great ambition was to go abroad with the team.

After the hard campaign of the summer just past, Grant may be a little weary. It is logical that Bitsy may not want to see another tennis ball for some time to come.

WHEN SPRING COMES. But when spring comes and the talk of the summer tennis campaign starts to circulate, it should be safe to wager that Grant will go to the wars with the Cup team as his goal.

One could hardly imagine Grant's refusing a place on the team should the U. S. L. T. A. declare that all the things they had said about him and his play on grass were just their idea of a joke, and beg him to play ball with them.

At any rate, Grant or Riggs seems certain with Allison out of the picture. Don Budge, of course, will play.

The fight for supremacy between Riggs and Grant will begin here on Sunday, September 27.

Riggs wears the crown that the Atlanta ace has won three times. Grant did not defend his title this summer.

The California youngster, considered by most observers the outstanding young player of the country, has met Grant once. Then he defeated the little fellow in the semi-finals of the invitation tournament at Rye, N. Y.

Both, however, are better on clay.

Just how much difference a clay court will make in their respective play will be decided here on September 27 at the Atlanta Tennis Club when the two will play a five-set exhibition match.

BOTH DETERMINED. Grant has sworn to avenge his Rye defeat, while nothing would please Riggs better than to beat the nation's No. 3 player on his home grounds.

In addition to the Riggs-Grant contest, Billy Reese, local player who has made a very good showing in major tournaments this summer, will play Wayne Sabin, Riggs' doubles partner.

Sabin and Riggs, semi-finalists in the national doubles championships this year, will play the Reese-Grant team at the conclusion of singles competition.

Billy Reese arranged the matches which will be handled by Marion Reese and Donald Atkins.

Billy, Sabin and Riggs have not yet reached Atlanta, having stopped in Allentown, Pa., for a tournament there. Grant passed up that struggle in order to get back to his business.

Admission for the matches which will begin at 3 o'clock is 55 cents for students, 85 cents general admission and $1.10 for the reserved section.

Warren Wins Title; Plays Fulton Team

Warren and Fulton Bag baseball teams will clash on the Warren Athletic field tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the last night game of the season.

One of the largest crowds of the season is expected as Warren and Fulton are deadly rivals and have two of the best teams in the city, both

V. P. I. Alumni In Session Here

The Atlanta Chapter of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute Alumni Association will hold its fall meeting at the Piedmont hotel at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

Following the meeting, dinner will be served at 8 o'clock.

William N. McAnge, of Knoxville, president of the Inter-Mountain Telephone Company, also president of the General Alumni Association, will be the guest of honor. Other out-of-town alumni who are expected to attend for the purpose of stimulating more interest in the local chapter are J. Ambler Johnson, prominent architect of Richmond, Va., and Backfield Coach Gene McEver, who will relate something of the football prospects this fall.

All alumni and ex-students of V. P. I. are urged to attend.

"There's the team I'm going to help this year. I'm to let them recover the fumbles and intercept the passes and not get hurt and have a lot of luck." Well, if that happens, you can have L. S. U., Kentucky and all the others.

Tech has the physical facilities. If the team can extract a little luck from the bag of good fortune, it may go through that schedule without a stop. Certainly the chance at a conference victory would be a real one.

The Techs are sure to be listed with the favorites when the Kentucky game appears on the schedule. It may not be comforting to Mr. Alexander and his staff.

On the Air Today
MAGAZINE OF AIR—Fleetwood Lawson, English writer and student of world affairs who is on his first visit to America, and Grand Duchess Marie, will be the guest speakers on the "Magazine of the Air" program to be heard over WGST at 8 o'clock tonight.

Lawson was born on an island of the west coast of Africa and spent most of his time in South America. He will discuss the modern woman's influence on politics and social conditions. Grand Duchess Marie will offer advice to week-end guests and hostesses.

The musical interludes will bring popular tunes by Leith Stevens' orchestra and Reed Kennedy, who will offer "Love Came Out of the Night" and "If We Never Meet Again."

HOLLYWOOD HOTEL—Gladyes George, Arline Judge, Isabel Jewell and John Howard will present scenes from their new picture, "Valiant Is the Word for Carrie," during Dick Powell's "Hollywood Hotel" broadcast to be heard over WGST at 8 o'clock tonight.

Adapted from Barry Benefield's novel, it is the story of a woman's regeneration and fight back, not only to social position, but to wealth for the sake of a pair of orphans.

The musical proceedings, with Dick Powell as master of ceremonies, will be in the spirit of the Los Angeles county fair, now current in the film capital.

JACKET SOPHS SHOW UP WELL

er but a very handy guy for illustrating purposes of most any kind.

Before the scrimmage started, Cushing, a 215-pounder who gets around, was kicking off for one varsity combination in a dummy drill. Cushing kicked well.

FORCE AT TACKLE.

When the scrimmage started and the varsity teams, finishing their offensive maneuvers, went on defense, Cushing was a crushing force at tackle. He piled up interference and stopped the ball-carrier. Or he broke through and nailed the runner. Poked, faced, he seemed to be daring 'em to try his position.

Gay Thrash, on passes from Fletcher Sims, was outstanding. He made two brilliant catches in succession and scored each time. Defensive Timbals became very obnoxious to the opposition.

Give Fletcher Sims equal credit on the passes. He has developed into a great passer, and the receivers just the amount of lead so necessary for successful execution.

It was a fine scrimmage. Maybe the freshmen didn't think so much of it because they had been working only two days before being introduced to the varsity in a most formal fashion.

BLOCKING BETTER.

But it was a fine scrimmage because blocking was better. Timbals plays was improved. And there was some great stepping by Koon Kone-man, Scrapy Edwards and Harry Timbals, in particular. The latter looked great on defense and blocked beautifully.

Ernest (Monk) Tharpe continues to look most impressive in the backfield. He is, without a doubt, one of the most improved players on the jacket squad. He seems to have picked up in speed and is, without a doubt, a consistent player in all departments.

Tommy Brooks, freshman back from Macon, played safely against the varsity and was given a real baptism of fire on handling punts. He made a grand and game showing. His new was red with honest blood when the drill ended.

Elmer McPherson, husky and speedy freshman fullback from Fairbury, Neb., also made a fine impression. Once he blocked big Jordan off his feet twice on the same kick.

SIMS KICKS WELL.

Fletcher Sims did most of the kicking and looked good. The day before he was kicking in practice and drew the open admiration of Buck Flowers, one of Tech's immortal backs. Sims was kicking 60 yards and better, causing Flowers to remark it had been many a day since he had seen anything like it.

One of the most heroic and at the same time a first-class Tech player, is Eddie Carmack, who weighs 152 pounds soaking wet.

Carmack has a knack of knifing through the line and giving the ball carrier unshipped hell. He is no bigger than a full-sized minute, but he has some power that originates from goodness knows where. He shot down under punts yesterday and nailed receivers like a heavyweight.

Eddie Carmack will see some action for the jackets and the opponents will see plenty of action from Carmack in the games this fall.

A. C. Givens, the missing bridegroom, returned to the team yesterday. He took his place with the B team centers.

And with Givens' return, Coach Alex shifted Mack Furlow's sophomore from center to tackle. Furlow is a husky youngster who will add to the tackle strength. He was used at tackle in the scrimmage.

Tom Allen, promising end on the varsity squad, was out of action because of illness.

BULLDOGS TIRE ON DEFENSIVE

better players. Green showed improvement at blocking. He scored one of the three touchdowns. Stevens and Roddenberry tallied the others. Marvin Gillespie despite his sprained hand, made valiant efforts to hold on to passes.

ALTERED LINEUP.

Clayton Tinsley are on the injured list.

Neither Bonner, Gillespie, Lumpkin, Stevens, Troutman nor Cavan have varsity experience. Troutman was substituting for Harry Harman at tackle. Harman, in civilian clothes, watched the workout.

GUARD QUESTION.

With Leeborn's shoulder in bandages, Walter Wilford, injured, and perplexing yesterday, Coach Mehre has said that although co-captains Harman and Hall had far to go in the season, the reserves are lacking. Leeborn is the only one of the others who has some varsity experience. Others competing for the posts are: Walter Troutman, Winston Hodgson, Bob Salsbury, Wilford and Wallace Martin.

A session of blocking and passing and punting preceded today's sham battle. Friday will be spent lightly. Saturday is booked for a regular "game" of four to 10-minute periods.

Bullpups Report With Fine Squad.

ATHENS, Ga., Sept. 17.—Including several boys of high prep school ranking, a squad of approximately 45 players reported for the Georgia freshman football squad this afternoon.

Among the boys were Billy Mimms, All-Southern quarterback from Pope High; Alex McCaskill, All-G. I. A. A. end from Macon; Titus Oakes, star center from G. M. C.; Oliver Hunnicutt, stellar back from Macon, and Bruce Long, 220-pound promising guard from Knoxville, Tenn.

Coaches Frank Johnson and Johnny Broadnax sent the squad through a one-hour workout.

AUBURN BACKS TO HOLD FATE

rub his shoulders at the guard positions, both veterans. Herb Roton, 190-pound senior is running at the tackle post left vacant by Patterson, All-Southern choice last year. At his regular position at the other tackle runs Hugh Rodgers, a powerful, shifty lineman weighing 200 pounds.

Joe Eaves and Hamp Williams are favored for the end positions, both seniors with plenty of experience. In fact, except for Hitchcock and Fenton at the halfback posts, the entire team is composed of seniors.

187-POUND LINE.

That's the setup. A line averaging 187 pounds and a backfield averaging 164 pounds. The line's tops, the backs, must click if the Plainsmen survive this schedule.

Detective Triumphs

By GEORGE BARTON.

Late on the night of July 8, 1920, a giant truck drove up to the warehouse of the Textile Alliance, in Hoboken, and the driver told the watchman that they wanted all of the dye in the place.

"You can have it if you show me your authority," he replied, "but not otherwise."

"There it is," he cried with a shrill laugh, pointing to the truck.

As he spoke five men popped up, with loaded pistols, aimed directly at the head of the defenseless watchman.

Then, while one of them kept him covered the others loaded 6,000 pounds of valuable dyes on the truck. After the watchman had been bound and gagged they drove off with the booty.

The holdup and burglary caused a sensation. It was the period of silent-theater robberies and the warehouses in Hoboken were loaded with dyes and other goods which had been seized and were being held for the purpose of reimbursing American citizens who had suffered by reason of U-boat warfare.

The first thought was that the theft had been carried out by Germans who were familiar with these warehouses. The second was that it must have been the work of professional crooks.

Chief Stone, of the New Jersey branch of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice, was assigned the difficult task of running down the mystery and recovering the dyes. He mapped out a plan of campaign and this included patrolling the docks and wharves in and around Hoboken. The aim was to prevent the shipping of the stuff. Chief Stone had little to go on aside from a description of the truck and the burglars, but instinctively he felt that some trifle would present itself which would eventually lead them to the stolen goods.

Strange as it may sound, many a big mystery has been solved by the smallest of clues.

One of his agents was standing near the corner of Fifth and Jackson streets one afternoon when his attention was attracted by a large maltese cat which skulked along in a shamefaced way. That, in itself, was not a matter of much moment. But on closer scrutiny of the cat the amazed representative of the United States government beheld something very much out of the ordinary. He doubted his senses at first, but a second look convinced him that he was not mistaken.

The maltese cat had a purple tail! This particular government agent had not read Sherlock Holmes, but he did understand the science of deduction and he came to the conclusion that something was wrong. There might be a white elephant, but there never was and never could be a maltese cat with a purple tail. Then, by an association of ideas he connected the unnatural causal appendage of this feline. He followed the cat and he discovered the house in which it had its habitation.

The home of the purple-tailed cat was watched day and night. The agents of the government spotted every one that entered or left the house. Then one day Chief Stone and Inspector Drew saw a truck lumbering through the streets of Paterson. Back of it were four men in an automobile, and by a bunch of the detective decided that they were the four men who had held up the watchman of the Hoboken warehouse.

They followed them to the house of the purple cat and then arrested them. The truck was searched. It contained 3,000 pounds of the stolen dye. One of the men had a card which contained the address of a warehouse in Brooklyn. Three agents hastened there and found the other 3,000 pounds of the stolen dye.

There was honor enough to go around in this victory over smart crooks, and a large part of it undoubtedly belonged to the cat with the purple tail. And one of the first things the detectives did was to give it a generous supply of cream.

RUSSIA WILL INVADE ANY ATTACKING NATION

War Minister Promises to Defeat Foe on Its Own Land.

KIEV, Russia, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Russians tonight had the promise of their commissar of war and navy that if Russia should be attacked "we will defeat the enemy on the territory he came from."

"We reaffirm," he said, "if the Soviet's enemies attack the Ukraine, White Russia, or any other part of the union, we will not only stop them from entering the Socialistic fatherland, we will defeat the enemy on the territory he came from."

(Chancellor Hitler, of Germany, at the Nazi party convention at Nuremberg, September 12, said: "If we had the Ural, if we possessed Siberia, if we had the Ukraine, national Socialist Germany would be swimming in surplus prosperity."

"It is your duty," Voroshiloff said, "to organize and help so that we can administer such a defeat to any enemy mad enough to try to invade the Soviet union that his grandchildren won't forget the lesson we will teach them."

"Remember the past and study it, but remember the past will not return, even though gentlemen abroad may dream a lot about setting foot on Soviet soil. They will never do it.

"As much as we love our army," he concluded, "we would send them back to the fields and factories if disarmament were approved. But our class enemies refuse to stop. They won't disarm because they fear their own people, their own workers. They fear tomorrow."
